Melon Seed Hat Is Hit at Gator Bowl

When Ted Woods of the Arkansas Parks and Recreation Commission made a request for hats made of products from various parts of the state to be shown in Jacksonville, Fla., during Gator Bowl week, the Hope Council of Garden Clubs responded with a hat made of watermelon seeds.

It received outstanding recognition in a Jacksonville paper with a picture entitled "When It's Watermelon Time in Hope, Ark., A Hat Is Born." It was modeled in the Florida city by Mrs. Woods, on KXII-TV.

The hat from Hope was made by Mrs. Loyd Kinard, president of the Hope Council of Garden Clubs. Naturally, it was hard to find watermelon seeds in November (when she constructed the chapeau), but she luckily found them at the C. D. Hare Seed Store.

The sailor type hat was made of spotted seeds on top with black seeds under the brim. Black loters, H-O-P-E, were seen on the red hat band.

There were three dozen hats from our state made of such Arkansas products as cotton, cotton blossoms, duck feathers, fish scales, pine cones and of course, watermelon seed. To advertise our state these hats will tour the United States in 1960 under the sponsorship of the Arkansas Parks and Recreation Commission.

Girls Training School Turns Away Two

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Martin, superintendent of the state Training School for Girls at nearby Collegeville, said today that the institution had to turn away two girls recently because of crowded conditions.

She said that the school's board had set the capacity at 67 and instructed her not to admit any more girls after that figure was reached.

"We don't like to do this," Mrs. Martin said, "but because of lack of space we have no alternative."

She said the board would meet Jan. 20 and that applications for release of some girls now at the school would be considered then.

It also should be permitted to return to their homes. It would make room for new inmates.

Mrs. Martin urged that county judges check to make certain space is available before committing additional delinquent girls.

When it becomes necessary to refuse to take a girl, arrangements are made by county juvenile authorities to care for her until she can be admitted to the school, Mrs. Martin said.

One of the girls rejected was from Union County; the other, from Grant County.

As juveniles, their names were not disclosed.

Ike May Take Democrats to Summit Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower indicated today he may take one or more Democrats to the summit meeting in May if there is a possibility the conference may result in a treaty.

Eisenhower made no definite commitment at his news conference, but noted that it has been the practice for many years for presidents to have members of the opposition party—usually from the Senate—on hand if a treaty is in prospect.

He did not indicate whether he believes at this point that the great powers meeting this spring may reach the treaty-making stage.

Mrs. Finch's Friend to Take Stand

By DIAL TORGERSO

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The young school teacher Barbara Jean Finch turned to "when she was afraid and needed a place to stay" tells more today of the last weeks of Mrs. Finch's life.

Pretty Marla Helfrich, 24, already has testified Mrs. Finch feared her husband, Dr. R. Bernard Helfrich, 42.

The wealthy physician and his mistress, Carole Tregoff, 23, are on trial on charges of murder and conspiracy. Mrs. Finch was shot to death July 18.

Mrs. Helfrich told the jury Tuesday that Mrs. Finch stayed with her twice "because he (the doctor) had beaten her up."

The slain woman's attorney testified earlier that twice—in May and June—Mrs. Finch told him she had been pistol-whipped by Finch and that he had threatened to kill her.

Attorney Joseph T. Forno said an investigator in his office sometimes acted as Mrs. Finch's body guard.

Mrs. Helfrich fled the courtroom, on the verge of tears, after photographers sought to take her picture.

Later she paused briefly to explain to newsmen that she met Mrs. Finch socially at a Palm Springs tennis club about a year before the killing.

Mrs. Helfrich was a witness for the prosecution.

President Rules Out Protest of Red Test Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower practically ruled out today any protest against Soviet plans to fire test rockets into the U. S.-dominated Central Pacific sometime after Jan. 15.

It would seem very unusual, he told a news conference, for the U. S. government to make any protest against the kind of thing it has done itself and may do again.

Such testing appears to conform with international law, he said.

Russia's announced plans to test powerful new rockets in that area have brought criticism from several individuals — former President Harry S. Truman and Sen. Mike Mansfield, (D-Mont.) for example.

Eisenhower said the United States always has claimed it is proper to use the high seas for valid scientific experiment, and has been doing so after notifying all concerned and warning away anyone who could be injured.

Jan. 19 Meet for Industrial Purposes

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus today summoned a special session of the Arkansas Legislature for next Tuesday with the aim of providing a financial bolster for state industrialization.

Faubus said he would offer legislation to enable Arkansas to secure a $1,300,000 rubber plant which would be located at Batesville.

He told his news conference this would be a plant operated by Sieberling Rubber Co. of Akron, Ohio.

There are no plans to include any legislation on the integration issue, the governor said in answer to a question. Integration was the subject of a special session in August, 1958.

Faubus said that two measures he would propose to the Legislature would be concerned with financing.

One would enable cities and counties to issue new type tax-exempt revenue bonds to be retired by using leased rentals from plant facilities.

The second would permit municipalities and counties to enter into compacts to secure plants which none could swing individually.

Faubus said a third proposal would be for some minor amendments in the original 1955 industrialization act.

The governor said that two other items definitely decided on would be a requested appropriation for Arkansas' contribution to the Southern Governors' Conference and appropriations for expenses of the session itself.

Faubus was asked if he anticipated any possibility that the session might develop into a "runaway" one.

He indicated he didn't and noted that the Legislature first must dispose of matters in the governor's call.

Only then could it take up any other subjects and this only by a two-thirds vote of each house.

These other subjects would include any possible integration legislation that state senators or representatives might have in mind.

Faubus said the formal call had not been prepared, and said he didn't know whether it would be today.

Besides the subject he listed as definite for the call, he said there were others he might include.

There was speculation about an appropriation for soil conservation work — $25,000 was the figure used — but Faubus in reply to questions said he hadn't committed himself on this point.

Faubus said that while getting the Seiberling plant was his immediate aim, the proposed legislation would be designed to aid in obtaining industries generally.

He said that he had been told that Arkansas lost a six million dollar plant to Greenwood, Miss., because Mississippi law permitted tax exempt bonds for industries.

Arkansas law does not.

"Who would buy taxable bonds if he could buy tax-exempt ones?" Faubus asked.

He said that even if the new type bonds were authorized, there still would be plenty of room for financing by local corporations and through other means now set up by Arkansas industrial laws.

Faubus said the five-mill industrial levy permitted counties and municipalities under present limitations would not be sufficient to finance the Seiberling plant.

Faubus emphasized that the $1,300,000 figure he used in his announcement was the cost of the plant Batesville interests hope to build and lease to Seiberling.

Simultaneously with the governor's announcement, President J. P. Seiberling of the rubber company said at Akron that the company planned to build at Batesville, contingent on action of the legislature.

He said the new plant would continue on Page Two

Rockefeller, Faubus Have Conference

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Winthrop Rockefeller conferred with Gov. Faubus today and said that a special legislative session may be required to keep the state from losing some big industries.

Rockefeller, chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, said that agency now faces a problem of financing any movement of major industries into the state.

At 3:30 news conference early in the day, Rockefeller said that he had discussed the chances of a special session. But he admitted one was a definite possibility.

A number of state legislators visited the governor. One said Faubus did not refer to a special session while two others said the matter was discussed. None of the lawmakers wanted to be identified.

Rockefeller was asked about a special session when he left the governor's office.

The project did come up and was taken about it, he said. But he emphasized that nothing was settled. Then he made the reference to industry.

One of the lawmakers who told newsman he discussed a special session with the governor said:

make additional shoe products and other rubber goods now being produced at full capacity at the company's plant at Akron.

It is said 100 persons would be employed initially in a building of 100,000 square feet on a site of 2 acres or more.

Selberling said the company had been considering locating in Arkansas for several years.

An abundant water supply and ample work force were among factors leading to Batesville as a choice, he said.

Faubus said the legislation he would propose would make Arkansas competitive with other states in attempting to obtain industries.

Faubus disclosed that he conferred with Batesville civic leaders there yesterday before making today's announcement.

Before going to Batesville Faubus conferred here with Winthrop Rockefeller, chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, who said the two had talked about the possibility of a special session.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The possibility of a special legislative session loomed again today after a conference on the subject between Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Winthrop Rockefeller, chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

Rockefeller met with the governor for an hour yesterday and said later that the question of a special session to provide financing for prospective industry came up. He declined to say how it was resolved.

"I still say the governor did not commit himself one way or the other to me," Rockefeller told newsmen as he left Faubus' office.

Rockefeller said the state may lose some big industries unless additional financing is found.

As far back as last summer, Faubus said he might call the Legislature to solve any industrial financing problems.

Faubus later said there was not much demand for a special session.

The governor was not available for comment after the meeting with Rockefeller.

Discussing integration at a news conference earlier yesterday, Faubus said the segregationists will not be to blame if the South abandons the public school system.

He added, "The federal government and the NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People) will be responsible for such a situation."

Faubus said it was too early to speculate whether the entire South would abandon public schools rather than submit to integration. But he predicted Georgia would take such a step.

Other Faubus noted that public schools in Prince Edward County, Virginia, still are closed. "The white children (there) are going to private schools and the colored children have been abandoned by the NAACP," Faubus said.

Arkansans will vote in November on a proposed constitutional amendment which would permit a public school system of public schools threatened by integration.

The measure was proposed by Faubus who depicted it as the long-range solution to Arkansas' integration problem. The 1959 Legislature put the amendment on the ballot.

Wants Repeal of Retirement Law

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas County Quorum Court had adopted a resolution asking the Arkansas Legislature to repeal a 1959 act which made county employees eligible for the state employee retirement system.

Attorney Arthur Macom of Stuttgart, spokesman for a group opposing the law, said it created a double pension plan for public officials and would cost Arkansas County 15,000 a year.

The act provides that county employees pay four per cent of their salaries into a pension fund. This is "matched" by the county. Macom said county employees already were covered by Social Security.

Charges Fly About Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democrats and Republicans exchanged accusations of "political payoff" and "political bologna" today in an argument over who is delaying civil rights legislation.

The Democrats—Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York and James Roosevelt of California—said the bill is being kept locked in the House Rules Committee as a political payoff by Republicans to Southern Democrats.

"Political bologna" snapped back Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the GOP floor leader.

Any contention that he is engaged in a conspiracy to keep the bill bottled up is "just not true," Halleck asserted, and asked: "Just what is the pitch? With the big majority they (the Democrats) have, can't they run the Congress?"

It was a long distance exchange. The Democrats sounded off to reporters at the Capitol. Halleck reported in talking to newsmen at the White House after he and other Republican congressional leaders had their first regular weekly meeting of the new session with President Eisenhower.

A move is under way to take the civil rights bill from the rules committee by petition. This can be done if a majority of the House members sign a petition.

Collier and Roosevelt were complaining that few Republicans have signed the petition.

They contend the Republicans are holding back in a payoff to Southern Democrats for help in enacting a new labor law in the last session.

In response to questions, Halleck said he is for civil rights measure and is sure Eisenhower also wants House action on it.

The GOP leader said, however, that he is against discharge petitions as a matter of policy. He added that he does not intend to urge his Republican colleagues to sign the petition.

Halleck also said the controlling Democratic majority of the rules committee had made no real effort to get a vote on whether to send the civil rights bill to the floor.

Two Arraigned for Kidnaping

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Willie James Garrett, 21, and T. B. Lamar Clark, 20, will be arraigned today in the U. S. District Judge John E. Miller today on charges of interstate kidnaping.

A federal grand jury indicted the pair yesterday. The jury returned 32 other indictments to conclude a two-day session.

Garrett and Clark, both of Barnsville, Ga., were indicted for kidnaping Air Force Sgt. Willard M. Thompson, 19, after he gave them a ride near Hamilton, Ala.

Thompson told police they forced him to drive to Clarksville, Ark., where they released him and he notified officers. The two were arrested before they left Clarksville.

GE to Enlarge Plant at Jonesboro

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — A 40,000 square foot addition to the General Electric plant here will be constructed this year, manager Marvin E. Hamilton said today. Hamilton said bids had been asked and that contract would be let soon.

The addition, which will be more than half the size of the present plant, will be finished before 1961, he said.

The addition will contain both factory and office space. Hamilton said it would have no immediate effect on employment at the plant, now at a record 539 persons.

No cost estimate was announced. The GE plant which manufactures fractional-horsepower motors, was established in 1953.

DOROTHY DIX

Son and Stepfather Clash
Wayward Boy Leaves Home

Dear Dorothy Dix:
I remarried at 19, one year after the death of my first husband. My second took my two children in as his own. His family accepted them as their own grandchildren. Now we have four more children.

The son by my first husband will be 18 on February 27. He quit school last year and began staying out all hours. One night his husband hit him because he came home drunk, then said, "Son, you must be in at midnight!" The boy took to staying out all night. Now he has left home and tells my daughter he will never return. My husband's heart aches inside for our son but he won't speak his name. I love my son. How can I win him back? — C. R. S.

Dear C. R. S.: Harsh though it sounds, let your wayward son work out his own salvation. He will anyway. Since he made the decision to leave home, give him a chance to prove he was right. You've still got a fine husband and five children. Lavish your

Butler Brought Into Dispute of Students

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The name of Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler was brought into a student intra-party dispute here today.

Milas Hale, a University of Arkansas law senior and president of the Arkansas Young Democrats, declared that an insurgent group, for which Sandy McMath is spokesman, "does not follow the principles of the Democratic Party in Arkansas."

Rather, Hale said, McMath and his associates "tend to support the national organization, the Paul Butler stand."

Butler has been a favorite target of some Southern Democrats including Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

The University Young Democrat Club was suspended temporarily last weekend. McMath, the 18-year-old freshman son of former Gov. Sid McMath, was ousted as president, after a two-month tenure.

Hale said an investigation by the state Executive Committee showed McMath was not a member of the Young Democrats in good standing when he was elected.

McMath denied this and other allegations by Hale. He said a small group was attempting to gain control of the Young Democratic organization for benefit of a few politicians.

He said that he and others who believe in true Democratic principles would meet tonight to form their own organizations — at the same time that the "regular" club had scheduled a new election of officers.

Faubus Sees Davis Vote as No Trend

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he sees nothing in the victory of Jimmie Davis in Louisiana's gubernatorial race to indicate a setback for states rights.

Asked by newsmen to comment on the Democratic runoff Saturday which gave Davis victory over Mayor DeLoesep Morrison of New Orleans, Faubus said: "Certainly the result was no defeat or setback for states rights."

The best methods of preserving segregation were among the key issues in the two candidates' battle for votes. Faubus also said he had met Morrison and thought him "a personable and able man." He added that he did not think Morrison's Catholic religion played as big a role in his defeat as the question of integration.

The fact that one of Louisiana's most vocal segregationists, state Sen. William Rainach, threw his support to Davis struck Faubus as more important to the winner in the runoff election than similar backing by Gov. Earl Long. Rainach ran third in the gubernatorial primary last December.

Pulaski Chancellor Guy Williams' order directing a refund on that amount.

The Supreme Court heard oral arguments in the case yesterday. The company contends the tax was wrongfully collected on income earned outside the state. The taxes were paid under protest.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I have a mother-in-law whose neck I'd like to wring. I'm sure it's mutual. Of nine children, my husband is fourth. His father died shortly before we were married. None of the rest of her children want her to live with them. They've all succeeded in finding quarters too small to accommodate her and their growing families. We're childless and worked hard for all we have. By her petty demands, my mother-in-law turns our house into an uproar and makes two happy people crabby bears. One day she'll be here permanently. My husband says he'll send her to an old people's home. I've unwittingly put myself in the middle because I want to avoid that. Don't you think the others should share this problem with us? — C.J.V.

Dear C.J.V.: You'll all three land either in the hoosegow or booby-hatch if your mother-in-law takes up permanent residence with you. Granted she's ornery, but give her credit for bearing nine children. Couldn't they pass the hat and set her up in a little home of her own with the ultimatum, "This is it?"

Dear Dorothy Dix:

We are two soldiers stationed at Fort Monmouth. We love the same girl. She can't make up her mind which one of us she loves. We have both decided it is time for her to make up her mind. What is your suggestion? — Lonesome and Disgusted.

Dear Lonesome and Disgusted: Try ignoring the lady for a change. If it's really love, she'll come running. Whichever one of you she looks up first will obviously be her choice.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper. (Released by The Bell Syndicate)

SMU in Upset Victory Over Unbeaten A&M

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A fellow named Strange — Steve Strange of Southern Methodist — scored 14 points for the Mustangs and disappointed the biggest home crowd basketball crowd in Texas A-M history as SMU whipped the previously unbeaten Aggies 68-64 last night.

The Aggies, ranked eighth in the last Associated Press poll, played the fired-up Mustangs on even terms in the first half, which ended 30-30, but SMU held a 54-40 edge by nine minutes to go in the second half.

Strange, as it seems, Strange didn't score but 16 points in SMU's last two games, six against Texas Tech and 10 against Texas A&M. Almost everything he touched last night counted points for the Mustangs.

His work for the night—12 field goals, 10 free throws, and 16 rebounds—enabled the 6-7 center to push the Mustangs into a three-place tie for second place in the conference race with Arkansas and the Aggies. All have 2-1 league records.

The Texas Longhorns, Monday night conquerors of Arkansas, took over first place "undisputed" after Tuesday night games. Baylor won its first conference game with a 71-60 shellacking of the Texas Tech Red Raiders at Waco and Texas Christian jumped into the conference victory column with an 86-73 triumph over hapless Rice.

Texas A&M has now won 10 of 11 games. Texas has a 9-3 record, with SMU 9-4, Arkansas 8-4, Texas Tech 4-9, Rice 3-10, TCU 4-9 and Baylor 7-5.

Couch Buster Brannon's tight zone defense caged the Rice owls effectively as Jerry Cobb and Bobby Bernard led the TCU scoring with 10 and 13 points respectively. Baylor hit a torrid 67 per cent in the first half and held a 34-17 lead with seven minutes to go in the period. Tech pulled up quickly on Bar substitutes, but the Bears held a 41-33 halftime lead. David Pierce was Baylor's top scorer with 22 points while Carroll Dawson hit 15 to lead the Red Raiders. SMU's victory set up a thriller for Friday night at College Station when Texas invades Aggie land in a meeting of traditional rivals.

Besides the Texas-Texas A&M game, and a Baylor-SMU fray at Dallas, the only other conference game of note still to be played will be at Fayetteville, Ark. Saturday.

Blevins Cops 2 of 3 Games at Guernsey

At Guernsey last night the Junior boys defeated Blevins while the visiting senior boys and girls downed the Guernsey teams.

The score of the Junior game was 53 to 35 with Guernsey's Bill Hawley making 27 and Herbert Farmer 10. Blevins' Joe Harris and Glen Head tossed in 11 each. Fern Stone tossed in 41 points to lead the Blevins girls to a 55-46 victory. Fern Parks made 13 for Blevins. Jo Mosler had 19 for the losers and Melba Bristow 15. Blevins senior boys romped to a 79 to 30 victory with Ronald Hicks making 26 and Harold Smith 19. Perry Lynn Cox tossed in 11 for the losers. Reported by Wrenetta Cleaver.

Waterfield Is New Coach of L. A. Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Waterfield, the quarterback who led the Los Angeles Rams to their greatest triumphs, is their new coach.

The 39-year-old Waterfield thinks he has the prescription for whatever ails the puzzling club: "More wins, I guess. When you're losing, everyone is griping. We're gonna try to win 'em all."

Waterfield's signed a five-year contract Tuesday. Salary terms were not disclosed. He replaces Sid Gillman, who left at the management's request last year after five seasons. Gillman since has become coach of the rival Los Angeles Chargers of the American Football League.

Last season the Rams were expected to be a top contender. But they folded into the cellar with a 2-10 record — their worst in history.

In his eight seasons with the Rams, Waterfield led the club to eight National Football League titles, four Division Championships and one NFL championship. He joined the Rams in 1945, after starring as a UCLA quarterback. He assisted Gillman during the 1956 season.

matter of FACT

Long before man had harnessed electricity and adapted it to shock treatments to treat certain forms of mental illness, the electric catfish was used, for just this purpose. There are records showing that eleventh-century Mohammedan doctors used electric catfish to treat epilepsy. They insulated themselves and pressed the fish against their patient.

Tech Bounces Into the AIC Cage Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas Tech bounced into the lead in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball race in proper fashion last night.

The Wonder Boys got on top by sinking the erstwhile leader, Ouchita, 98-66 on Jim Lovelady's field goal with five seconds left. And Tech pulled the trick on the home court of the previously undefeated Baptists.

Jubilant Tech fans carried Lovelady to the dressing room after he totaled 26 points to play a big personal role in ending Ouchita's victory skid at 12.

Tech now has a 7-1 record. Ouchita dropped into second place at 6-1. State Teachers, which took a 78-66 no-conference decision over Delta (Miss.) State last night, holds third at 5-1.

The Tech-Ouchita fray took the spotlight in a full AIC schedule. In other games, State tripped the College of the Ozarks 73-67 in overtime. Arkansas College played Harding 96-74 and Hendrix slashed A&M 75-66.

Tech needed all eight points of its 49-44 halftime lead to withstand Ouchita's frantic post-intermission surge. Each team had 30 field goals. Jim Perry led Ouchita scoring with 22 points.

A seven-point surge from a 55-54 lead late in the second half gave Tech Teachers breathing room over Delta at Conway. John Robinson scored 32 for the Bears.

Regulation time in the Southern State-Ozarks clash at Clarksville expired with the clubs deadlocked at 61-all. State had all the better of it in the extra period. Frank Dolan led the winners with 22 points. Clyde Traylor paced Ozarks with 19.

Arkansas College raced to a 49-25 halftime lead and coasted to the finish against Harding at Seary. Francis Rogers scored 23 for the Seaboard and Larry Brakefield sank 13 for Harding.

The Hendrix-A&M tussle at Monticello was close until near the end. Hendrix led 27-19 at the half. A&M came back to go ahead 32-24, then the score was 62-60 Hendrix when the Warriors pulled away. Ernie Martin scored 20 for Hendrix. Harold Mobley 21 for A&M.

Giants Start Fixing Up New Office Space

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants can start fixing up their office space in Candlestick Park today.

After a two-hour conference on a stalemate over extra construction items, Tuesday, Mayor George Christopher announced contractor Charles Harney has agreed to let the Giants take possession of their offices.

Alan E. Browne, president of Stadium, Inc., the nonprofit organization handling the new ballpark financing, said the disputed extra cost items would be paid for with bonds.

Harney's price for the stadium, without the extra items expected to run about $600,000, was $7,046,000.

In the women's field Shirley Gains of Chicago managed to cling to the lead for the second, third and fourth rounds. She wound up the night with 38-31 total, reflecting her 1,381-pin total.

Sanford Dixon of Columbus died in a Howard County hospital on Tuesday, Jan. 12.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Hicks Funeral Home, Inc.

Major Unbeaten Cage Teams Are Down to Three

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Basketball's major unbeaten list is down to three today after Texas A&M's loss to Southern Methodist, and the same whittling may be ready for the survivors — top-ranked Cincinnati, Villanova and LaSalle.

Cincinnati (12-0), touching off a two-game challenge week with the powerful Missouri Valley Conference, is at home to 11th-ranked St. Louis (10-3) while LaSalle (9-0) and ninth-ranked Villanova (9-0) face a couple of toughies in a doubleheader at Philadelphia's Palestra.

LaSalle goes against Syracuse, beaten only twice in seven games, and Villanova faces Temple, 10-3 for the season.

Looking ahead, if Cincinnati and Villanova survive tonight each has an even tougher test Saturday with Cincinnati at Bradley, which has won 39 straight home games, and Villanova at West Virginia, where the third-ranked Mountaineers have reeled off 39 consecutive home court victories.

The home court couldn't help Texas A&M's 10-game unbeaten streak Tuesday night, as 6-7 Steve Strange and SMU used two second-half spurts for a 68-64 upset.

Strange, a 205-pound junior, got 34 points while the Aggies' ace sophomore, Carroll Broussard, was held to meager four points.

The loss boosted idle Texas (3-0) into the Southwest Conference lead and dropped the Aggies into a triple second-place tie with Arkansas and SMU at 2-1. Baylor defeated Texas Tech 71-60 and TCU nailed Rice 88-63 for their first conference victories in other Southwest games.

Duke ran its Atlantic Coast Conference record to 4-0 with a 59-41 decision over Clemson, George Washington whipped Southern Conference foe Richmond 78-58, and Detroit won its 11th against two losses, 89-85 over tough Marquette (9-4) in other Tuesday features.

Long Island University, once a titan of Eastern basketball, pulled an important upset, whipping by a 74-65 count the Seton Hall team that last Saturday beat highly regarded St. Joseph's (Pa.). Pitt, with Johnny Mills scoring 27 points, snapped a five-game losing string 75-59 over William & Mary, and Dick Harvey and Dick Hartmann controlled the boards and scored 21 points apiece as Creighton defeated Omaha 74-52.

Mike Crumley's four points in the last minute gave Notre Dame (10-3) a 73-70 decision over DePaul while St. Joseph's (Pa.) got back in stride 83-69 over Lehigh. Western Kentucky scored a 71-67 Ohio Valley Conference victory over Tennessee Tech.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dow Finsterwald, golf's third top money winner in 1959, was off to heady start toward a lucrative 1960 today with $5,500 earned as the come-from-behind winner of the $37,500 Los Angeles Open.

The 36-year-old pro from Tequesta, Fla., heading for the near-by $20,000 Yorba Linda Open, which opens 72-hole play Thursday, won the 34th annual Los Angeles event with a calm 71 in the final round and a 72-hole score of 280.

It was a great day for Finsterwald but a sad one for a popular Los Angeles pro, Eric Monti, who led for three rounds and then exploded.

Monti went into the final round Tuesday boasting a lead of four strokes over Finsterwald. Eric took a 6-over-par 80 and finished in 112 for seventh place.

Monti, who also blew a lead in the 1955 Los Angeles event, had an awful day. He started the round with bogey-double and never could recover from the shock.

Finsterwald, who earned $93,906 last year and was the 1959 National PGA champion, toured the Rancho Municipal golf course, with its par 35-36-71, in 36-35-71. Monti did it in 41-39-80.

Scramble on for All-Star Bowling Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OMAHA (AP) — The scramble for the All-Star Bowling Championship got under way Tuesday in traditional fashion with the lead changing hands at the end of every squad in the men's division.

Harry Smith of St. Louis emerged as the leader after four rounds, jumping from ninth place to first in the final round, thanks to a closely punched field in which everyone above him lost at session of their offices.

Alan E. Browne, president of Stadium, Inc., the nonprofit organization handling the new ballpark financing, said the disputed extra cost items would be paid for with bonds.

Harney's price for the stadium, without the extra items expected to run about $600,000, was $7,046,000.

Arrests Made in Anti-Jew Incidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arrests mounted today in a growing campaign against the worldwide wave of anti-Jewish incidents.

But in the wake of more recent displays, a world Jewish leader urged a U. N. investigation to seek out the reasons for the outburst of hate-mongering, now in its 20th day.

In West Germany, where the Christmas Eve desecration of a Cologne synagogue started the wave, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer warned of the consequences of continued anti-Semitic activity.

Obviously referring to the Communist "hate nations," Adenauer said in a West Berlin broadcast: "One must clearly understand that such incidents will be utilized by the enemies of our people—and as you know, Germany still has very many enemies—who will say that the Germans are the same as they used to be."

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano urged the country to be on the lookout for the "criminals and fools" responsible for painting swastikas and anti-Semitic slogans. He said they should be put away in a lunatic asylum.

West Berlin police found cartoon posters linking Adenauer and various of his ministers with the anti-Semitic demonstrations and with Hitlerism. There was a suspicion that the posters originated in Communist East Germany. Police arrested two men for putting up the cartoons.

Three incidents were reported in Britain. Schoolboys admitted being the guilty parties in one case, describing it as a prank.

Police in Florence, Italy, caught three youths painting swastikas. In Foggia, in southeastern Italy, three students were arrested for plastering anti-Semitic slogans on public buildings.

The U. N. investigation was recommended by Dr. Maurice L. Perle, a representative of the World Jewish Congress.

He told the opening meeting of the U. N. Subcommittee on Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities that the is-

New Club Officers Are Installed Tuesday by Kiwanis District Lieutenant-Governor

THIS WAS THE SCENE AT DIAMOND CAFE'S MAIN dining room Tuesday noon when Hope Kiwanis Club hosted Charles Garrett of Arkadelphia, district lieutenant-governor. Mr. Garrett installed new officers of the Hope Club.

OTHER NEW OFFICERS ARE: GEORGE FRAZIER, vice-president; Teddy Jones, secretary; Olin Lewis, treasurer; and members of board of directors: Arch Wylie, Dr. F. C. Crow, Arist. Trout, Thomas Purvis, and Brents McPherson.

THE EDITOR HAD BEEN WORKING ON A TWIN ELECTRONIC lighting system to give a daylight effect day or night in the Diamond's dining room, which is a tough photographic subject, but after explaining to the club how it was going to work — it didn't. The system is O. K., as will be shown later in pictures of the same room. In the rush to get the setup in place Tuesday noon, the editor made a mistake, and only one of the two lights went off.

on," he announced, "anybody that looks at this here wonder of the world pays money for the privilege." He turned and bowed to the two ministers. "Clergymen half price," he conceded. "Now, get out all of ye!"

Lossie and I were among the last to go because we would have to extricate our horses and buggy. So we watched Stubby as he carried boards from a weathered pile behind his barn and covered the pit with them, hiding from sight that object which, which was to become a national communion under the name and title of The Cardiff Giant.

The question of whether the thing was human, an ancient work of art or a hoax was to be debated from Maine to California. It was mooted by doctors of divinity, by scientists, by physicians of the eminence of Oliver Wendell Holmes, by college presidents and professors.

Lossie and I drove the few miles to La Fayette and turned down the turnpike toward Syracuse. By this time the Indian Fair was in full swing again, and we drove into the grounds, tied the team and watered it, and baited it. Then we sought a shady spot and ate our own lunch.

Mr. Hannum, who would have seemed naked without his horseman's cap, stopped to speak to Lossie. "Folks," he said in his nasal voice, "air so constituted it's easier to bamboozle 'em than to get 'em to credit a fact."

"Then, sir," I asked, "you think the giant is some kind of a hoax?"

"Didn't say so. Didn't say so," he replied sharply. "more money in it if the's a brim argumint."

"I'd rather own it than have shares in Mr. Vanderbilt's railroad," he said and passed on his way.

It was nearly five o'clock when we climbed into the buggy and headed for home. Lossie was thoughtful.

"If," she said presently, "that thing is a-a counterfeit, then Stubby Newell didn't think it up."

"Why do you say that?" I asked.

"He's not smart enough, and he couldn't afford it. It would cost a lot of money."

"All the more reason," I argued, "for thinking it genuine. Then she really shocked me: 'I guess I'm an agnostic,' she said, looking straight in front of her and wearing an expression of bland innocence."

"Lossie Fox!" I exclaimed, and then, because I did not know exactly what to say, I said, "Rob-

FBI Arrests a Holdup Man

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—J. Casper agent in charge of the FBI office here, today said that William Richardson, a native of Memphis, had been arrested at Chicago in connection with a holdup at Pine Bluff.

Negro Group Wants Dollarway Report

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The three Negro children who are trying to get in the all-white Dollarway School near Pine Bluff today asked that the Dollarway School Board be required to report by Feb. 15 on action taken toward their admission.

The request to U. S. District Judge J. Smith Henley was contained in a 36-page memorandum brief filed by the children's attorneys in the school integration litigation.

The brief was designed to support the request for an order compelling the school board to report.

"I looked him up in the dictionary," Lossie said. "I mean I looked up 'agnostic.' I just bet, for all your college, you don't know what it means."

"It means," I said firmly, "a man who doesn't believe in God."

She shook her head. "It's a new word," she said, "and it was coined by a scientist named Huxley, and what it really means is a suspending judgment on all matters where there isn't proof of their truth."

Mr. Ingersoll, doesn't say he doesn't believe in God. He just says there isn't any proof of him. So, about this stone giant I'm an agnostic."

"And that," she said, "Isn't all I'm an agnostic about."

"What else?" I asked her.

"That hussy across the street from us," she said. "That Madam Cissie! Janeway!"

THE LADY AND THE GIANT

"BROTHER NEWELL," SAID ONE OF THE MINISTERS, "it has been interred here for countless centuries."

CHAPTER II

THE STORY: Orrin Applegate, a young lawyer of Syracuse, was taking Lossie Fox to the Indian fair. On the way they are attracted to Stubby Newell's place, at Cardiff, where a stone figure has been unearthed by men digging a well.

Careless of my Sunday-god-to-meeting suit of clothes, I leaped down into the excavation to examine the find more closely. It was almost entirely uncovered, but soft earth clung to it and required to be removed. I called for a broom, and in a moment one was passed down to me. I used it to clean the surface of the huge figure and disclosed the outer surface. Undoubtedly it was of stone, but I could detect no marks of a chisel. I bent closer and was able to see that which startled me mightily. For the entire body was covered as the skin of a human being is covered with pores. It was unmistakable. It was incredible. But this prima-facie evidence was an indication that this was no man-wrought statue, but the sculptured representative of a matter "of life or death" for many of the world's minorities. He said a thorough study would give governments an idea of how to deal with the problem.

body of a petrified giant. "What d'ye make it out to be, Orrin?" asked the nasal voice of David Hannum.

"I wouldn't want to say, sir," I answered. "But whatever it is, it's a marvel."

"Before we go messin' around," said a warning voice, "we better fetch a parson."

"Or"—Lossie's voice was suspiciously serious—"the coroner."

"Lossie!" I rebuked. "Isn't it the law?" she asked with innocent face. "If it's a man's body there'll have to be an inquest."

I could not tell whether she was in earnest or joking. She would ask the most absurd questions with the straight face or make the most outrageous suggestions.

By this time the Indian Fair must have been deserted, even if it had been a new marvel, and among the neck graners were a couple of persons from neighboring towns.

Way was made for these authorities on the mysterious and unknown to approach the excavation, and there stood the two gentlemen of the cloth, staring down at the giant with expressionless faces.

To me, it was apparent that neither preacher was eager to speak first; each waited cautiously for the other to take the risk of having an opinion. The pause became painful, until at last one minister spoke ponderously, non-communally.

"God," he said solemnly, "m'v in a mysterious way His wonders to perform."

Lossie distressingly irreverent, stood on tiptoe to reach my ear. "That," she said, "is what I call taking a him and darning stand."

The other minister clearly felt that he must not be outdone in this emergency by his brother. "There were," he said pontifically, "giants in those days."

"I think," said the first minister, after communion with himself that we should descend into the scuplcher and make gloster examination."

So the two reverend gentlemen scrambled into the pit and solemnly bent over the huge, distorted figure. From top to toe they examined it, not with the authority of men who dealt with the mysteries of life.

The pastors scrambled out of the pit.

"Speak up," insisted Hannum. "Is the critter fish, flesh or good 'ed herin'?"

"Good people," said one, "we have examined the—ah—body in a spirit of humility and prayerfulness. We have consulted together and have reached accord. There are visible to the naked eye pores such as are present in the human skin. The course of veins and arteries can be traced. The posture indicates—that the individual was capable of suffering agony. It is, therefore, our considered opinion—that in this grave, my fellow citizens, lies the veritable petrified—ah—fossilized body of a giant who roamed this earth in biblical days."

A profound sigh arose. Authority had spoken.

There was a commotion in the fringe of the crowd and a pushing and jostling. An irate voice shouted, "Hey! What's goin' on here, anyhow?"

It was the owner of the farm, Stubby Newell. Way was made for him to advance to the center, while voices shouted explanations for the trespass.

"Your well diggers struck a stone man! Is a petrified giant out of the Bible! The preachers say so!"

"Hush your noise," growled Stubby, "whilst I see for myself."

He knelt in the earth at the edge of the pit and peered downward. Presently he turned a dumfounded face. "Daw's my cats!" he exclaimed in an awed voice. "Where 'n tunket did this here come from?"

"Brother Newell," said one of the ministers, "only the Almighty knows whence it came. It has been interred here for countless centuries."

"Aw, shucks," Newell said, "some fool's playin' off a joke."

"Who'd be able to play sich a joke as this?" asked a neighbor. "Weights tens. Stubby is a reason 'tain't no trick. Stubby is an honest-to-heaven giant turned to stone. Ise Lot's wife."

"Salt," said Lossie aloud.
